President's Report

"If you really want to do something, you'll find a way. If you don't, you'll find an excuse." - Jim Rohn

Happy New Year Salmon Unlimited Members!

As you'll see in this month's issue, the yearly schedule of events have been set. Our first event is the Schaumburg Show, January 26-29 where SU will have a booth again, after that the Swap Meet at the end of February, so come out and see us at both places.

I was getting some pictures sent to me from John Straus and Brian Hall, who were out brown trout fishing off Oak Creek power plant on New Year's Day, so I guess they win first trip of the year honors for 2017. While they were launching their boat, another angler fell in the cold water and John pulled him out. Way to go John, Hero of the Month too!

Northpoint Marina finally decided on Westrec to run the harbor, the same outfit that runs Chicago Harbors. Plan is for them to build a new pool and invest a couple of million dollars on the harbor over the short term. We wish them luck and look forward to a long partnership at our home port. Keep your fingers crossed.

Our members have been scattering all over the globe during Winter to escape the cold, I'm heading to Aruba January 7th, so I hope you'll have a chance to get away too. No fishing on this trip, but Florida and Guatemala with the boys come February. Yeah Baby!

I hope everyone had a good 2016, there sure were some surprise's and the fishing was very good. Let's hope 2017 is just as fruitful.

To good health, all the best,

Jim Nelligan

President

Christmas On Ice!

With a number of people (including myself) getting the 23rd and 26th of December off of work because of the Christmas Holiday, there was really only one thing to do.... GO FISHING! Because we were blessed with some cold weather early in December, some of the Wisconsin harbors along Lake Michigan had safe enough ice to do some ice fishing for browns and steelhead.

For a couple of us (Sarah, Mark, and Myself) the Holiday started on Friday in Racine. It was a bit of a tough morning as we were only able to get one brown to hit on a piece of chartreuse dyed shrimp.

Saturday morning started with myself and well known club member Harley. We started on the lower stretches of the root river with again a very slow morning, no hits whatsoever! After a couple of hours, Harley said he had to go to work. Well this was a great time for me to abandon the spot and head a bit further south to Kenosha. After making a pit stop at Wendy's to grab some food, I got back on the ice in Kenosha and drilled some holes. After covering some area and making my way to a spot that has produced fish for me in the past, it took about an hour or so to finally get the first bite of the day! A beautiful arlee strain steelhead. 20 min later, I had a slammer go off with another arlee, and just like that I had two fish on the ice! Some more time passed and I had another hit on a slammer rigged with a tube jig and waxies. Up came a very colorful buck steelhead that looked like a Christmas Tree! This fish was released.

Now it was around 2pm on Christmas Eve. With 2 fish on the ice to clean, and the family Christmas Eve celebration starting at 5pm at my cousin's house, I told myself I would pack up at 3pm. Well of course at 2:45pm, I had a slammer rigged with a spawn sac go off right in front of me! After a little bit of a battle, a 7lb chrome steelhead came up through the ice! At this point I knew I was going to be late to Christmas Eve!! I gave it another hour until 3:45pm when I finally gave it in to go celebrate Christmas Eve with the family.

On Sunday morning, myself and Mark started in the same spot I left off on Saturday afternoon with the hopes that some fish were still around. It didn't take long as we got our first bite about 45 min after setup. Resulting in Mark getting a beautiful ~8lb hen steelhead on a spawn sac.

A little while after, while working a tube jig and waxies on the jig stick, I felt a strike, but set the hook too quickly. Let the jig sink back down and BAM! It hit again, after a couple seconds a fall hold-over coho came flying out of the hole at me! A Christmas Coho!!

This was the last bit of action for us until we called it a morning to head to our respective Christmas Celebrations for the day.

Monday greeted us with above average temperatures and some concern around the condition of the ice in the harbors. We set out with all the safety gear in tow, life vests, ice picks, and extra rope. Because of the warm temperatures, we didn't even have to drill any new holes because the holes from the previous two days were still open. This allowed for a stealthy set up.

Unfortunately it still took around an hour and a half to get the first bite, which turned out to be a beautiful hen brown trout.

From there it was a long while before the next bite, which put us into the mid day time period. While jigging a tube jig with waxie, I got a solid bite which yielded a beautifully colored young brown trout.

As the day went on, the temperature climbed to a whopping 50 degrees and the wind out of the west up to 25mph sustained, 35mph gusts! We started to really monitor ice conditions closely. As we sat enjoying the nice weather, a slammer baited with a medium roach went off and I immediately knew that it was a northern that had hit based upon the way the rod was bent with no movement. A short while later, this beautiful 33" Pike hit the ice!!

A New Year's Day Voyage

Because of the warm temps toward the end of the Christmas Weekend, I got a crazy bug up my, well mind, and thought maybe we'd be able to launch a boat over the New Year's Holiday Weekend. BUT with it being the middle of winter, and the Coast Guard boats put up for the year, I really wanted to have another boat (or two) out as a back up in the event of breakdown. Early in the week, I put out a call to Ron V and Mike G to see if they had their boats put up for the winter or not. A day or two later, we had a plan put together to launch out of Waukegan and head north to a tall set of smoke stacks assuming the weather held out for us. Friday after work, I headed to the launch to evaluate the ice situation and found nothing!

While taking these pictures of the northern, another slammer with a spawn sack went off and Sarah jumped on it to ice this small rainbow!

With the forecast looking the best for Sunday New Year's Day with SW winds at 5-10kts going to South at 15kts later in the day, we set a plan in motion to launch at 7am with a run time of 7:30am January 1st 2017! Marking the first annual SU IL New Year's Day outing (work in progress lol).

Upon arrival at the launch Sunday morning, we were met with an unexpected surprise! Ice! Out to the bend on Government Pier! After a solid 45-60 min of work to prep boats and break ice, we had 3 boats in the water and ready to make the way out to the fishing grounds!

This was the last fish of the day for us as we called the trip shortly after due to rapidly deteriorating ice conditions! It was a solid 4 days of fishing that produced a number of beautiful trout and a very nice northern pike! I'd definitely like to thank all the friends and family that come out to fish and provide such great company while on the ice!

Mark Sandahl

Hook-N-Line Editor

We started the run north as a pack of 3 boats and arrived after a short ride.

Mike and his father in law in their boat, as well as us set up trolling in 10-15 fow using mostly cranks. Ron took his boat up a little closer to shore and began a casting routine. It didn't take long for all 3 boats to report the first catches of the morning! After a few hours of fishing, all 3 boats had a few fish in the coolers for the day's effort, with coho making up the majority of the catch.

It was a great day on the water with some great friends! The fishing action certainly made the work in the morning worth the effort!
